

What makes a great Eynesbury RE learner?

An Eynesbury learner in RE understands that there are many religions, cultures and beliefs across the world, and can compare beliefs to identify similarities and differences between them.

An Eynesbury learner in RE has the knowledge and skills needed to actively participate in a diverse multi-cultural society.

An Eynesbury learner in RE has a good understanding of our British Values and the importance of demonstrating them by showing tolerance and respect to others even if their views differ

An Eynesbury learner in RE can reflect on their own and other's views using their personal experiences

An Eynesbury learner in RE can express an informed and considered view on the impact of diversity of faith and belief globally and nationally and relate this to their own lives and others.

An Eynesbury learner in RE can discuss and apply their own and others' ideas about ethical questions and to express arguments in a structured response.

An Eynesbury RE learner understands that those who have non-religious worldview also follow a moral code.